

karen fleischmann

Karen is an internationally successful Swiss fashion model. She has been actively involved in sustainability, environmental protection and human rights in the fashion industry since 2014 and thus became one of the first sustainability activists on social media in Europe. The 35-year-old is a credible role model for an entire generation and has successfully established the hashtag #greenissexy in her constant educational work. The goal is to convince your community of a simple, fair and environmentally conscious lifestyle and still have fun. She sees herself as a sociopolitical but non-ideological activist. let's be the change!
